09:00–09:20 Vincenzo Picotti, Simone Mantellini, Abbas Al-Hussainy, Nicolò Marchetti, Federico Zaina
Development of water management strategies in southern Mesopotamia during the fourth and third millennium BCE

Session 3: Database

09:25–09:45 Émilie Pagé-Perron
From cuneiform tablets to knowledge graphs:
Assyriological metadata standards in context

09:50–10:10 Mark Altaweel
Filling in the gaps and forecasting the past:
Applying AI to improve paleoclimate knowledge

10:15–10:40 Coffee break

10:45–11:05 Dominique Charpin
Archibab v.2 and its potential for research

11:10–11:30 Sebastian Borkowski, Tadeáš Červík
The HyMes data model

11:35–12:00 Discussion

12:00–13:30 Lunch break

13:30–13:50 Ansam Albayati, Carla Balmer, Sebastian Balmer, Adva Bensoussan, Yves Cornillie, Beáta Fässler, Nina Gavriluk, Andrea Kohli, Francesco Lucano, Laura Oberholzer, David Röthlisberger, Felicitas Stec, Marcela Vollmer, Patricia Weber
Come hell or high water: Life of student assistants in the HyMes-Project

13:55–14:15 Muntadher Aloda, Fatemeh Javanmardi
Development of settlement patterns in Southern Mesopotamia

14:20–14:45 Coffee break

Session 4: DH-Workshop

14:50–15:10 Martin Grandjean
Describing complex structures across multiple scales:
An introduction to multilayer network analysis

15:15–17:00 DH-Workshop

19:00 Dinner (Restaurant Kornhauskeller, Kornhausplatz 18, 3011 Bern)

Sunday, 19 October

Uni Mittelstrasse, Mittelstrasse 43, 3012 Bern, Room 224

Session 6: Discussion

14:00–15:00 Final discussion

About the conference

Pursuing a holistic approach towards the diachronic reconstruction of the ancient hydro-cultural landscape of Southern Mesopotamia, we invite archaeologists, philologists, geoscientists, and data scientists to share insights in current state of the art research in landscape archaeology and historic geography. Together with network researchers, we aim to critically discuss the potentials and obstacles of multi-layered networks as a device to interlink and analyze data from archaeological, textual, historical, and paleoenvironmental sources. A further goal of this multi-disciplinary discourse is the agreement on best practice standards to foster the interoperability and re-usability of data sets across disciplines.

The HyMes Team

Research group archaeology: Mirko Novák, Susanne Rutishauser, Muntadher Aloda, Fatemeh Javanmardi, Ansam Albayati, Sebastian Balmer, Yves Cornillie, Beáta Fässler, Andrea Kohli, Laura Oberholzer, David Röthlisberger, Felicitas Stec

Research group digital humanities: Rita Gautschy, Sebastian Borkowski

Research group geography: Andreas Zischg, Eveline C. Zbinden, Tadeáš Červík, Carla Balmer, Francesco Lucano, Marcela Vollmer, Patricia Weber

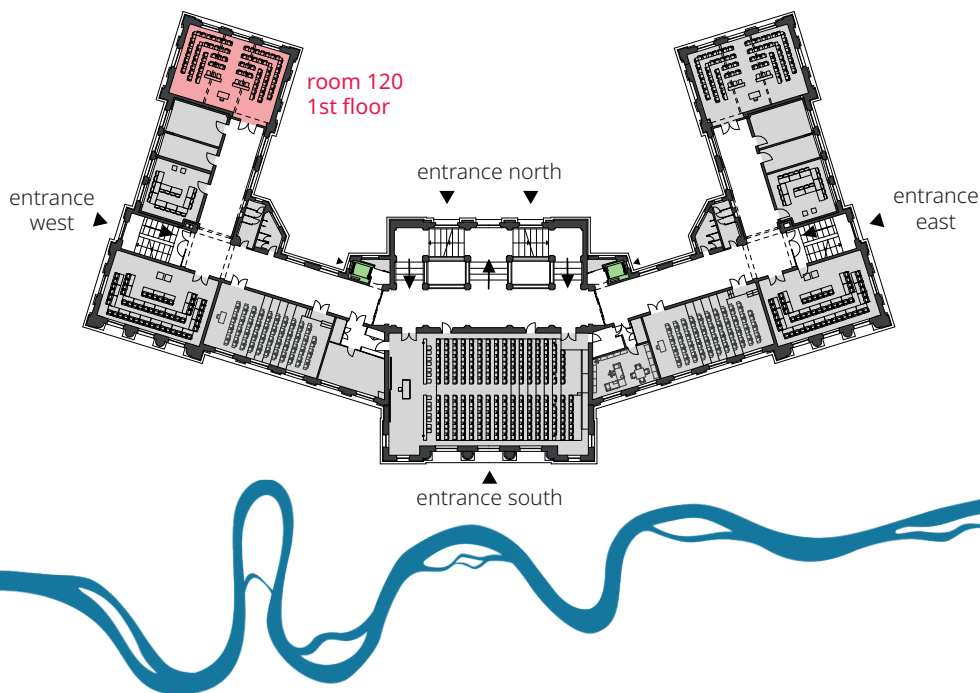

Research group philology: Ingo Schrakamp, Adva Bensoussan, Nina Gavriljuk
